

EMWOSE
Women from ethnic minorities in social enterprise

Interview form

Overview

Name: Justa Vansovič

Company: Love Revolution

Website:

<https://www.facebook.com/MeilesRevoliucija>

Shortly about yourself...

I am Justa Vansovič. I lead practices for women and mixed groups. For women I lead practices in the Red Tent, where with women we explore our sexuality, our wilderness, enjoyment of life, and cherish mutual community. and for mixed groups we lead practices that foster awareness, connection- authentic, real connection with one another, being in that true self with how I feel and what I want.

Main objective

Our goal is to create space for ourselves and our like-minded people, to grow together. And also, a resource, how to deepen love for oneself, acceptance, how to deepen relationships with one another.

Target group

The target group of Love Revolution is people, who are already on the path of self-knowledge, who are looking for like-minded people, who want to grow in consciousness.

Team size and Financing

We create community vision with beloved Nojus Vaitaitis, with him we make the main decisions, however, our team consists of 8 more people.

What difficulties are you facing?

The biggest challenge is an inner predator which says that I am not enough to do it already, I am not enough to lead practices. And indeed, the strongest and most helpful thing is a return to oneself: going to nature, embracing the tree, being filled with that unconditional love, where I am no longer alone, separated from the world, I am connected in the community, together.

Interview transcript

Keywords:

Love Revolution, Red Tent, women, mixed groups, authentic connection, awareness, acceptance, consciousness, self-knowledge, feedback, community.

What is the social impact of Love Revolution?

Speaking about feedback, for a long time it has been practically finances for us, because of it we did everything, we created and it inspired us the most. We are very happy and very grateful to everyone who filled and fills out our feedback sheets, because they are endless and they are so sincere and so real, we are very happy about that. And we can see that this is needed, this is what people want.

What motivates you?

I want to live in a society where it is safe, joyful, which is loving, which is accepting itself and one another, just as we are, in which there is no need to pretend. I want to live in such a community, I already live in such among such people, and the more of us are, the more cheerful and happier we live and the more there is enjoyment of life. That is that motivates me, for myself.

What would you advice for women who want to start a social activity?

First of all, listen to yourself and feel why you want to do it, what message you want to send to the world. Lean completely on yourself without appeasing others. the way you feel and the way how you want it. and secondly - think less, do more because everyone wants it. start, just start.

Meilēs
REVOLIUCIJA